National Senior Independence Month

By Angelina Soria

February is National Senior Independence Month. It originated in the 1800s when various women's organizations and church groups began establishing nursing homes for the elderly. As society evolved, so did the infrastructure that supported older adults, with the creation of public spaces equipped with ramps, elevators, and medical facilities to enhance accessibility.

Technological advancements have significantly improved the quality of life for seniors. With the introduction of modern gadgets and wireless technology, older adults can easily stay connected with family and friends, monitor their health, and access a wealth of information related to healthcare, safety, education, and entertainment, all from the comfort of their homes.

Celebrating National Senior Independence Month goes beyond technology; it involves actively supporting seniors through meaningful interactions and time spent together. Seniors can celebrate their independence by exercising, eating healthily, and reviewing home safety and accessibility. Independence is crucial for seniors as it fosters personal growth, self-respect, and fulfillment, allowing them to maintain their dignity and identity while enjoying a satisfying and happy life.

Seniors can find free community resources, participate in events, and connect with others at local libraries and senior centers.

If you need help finding more resources or where your local senior center is, contact a Sourcewise Community Specialist by calling (408) 350-3200 option 1.

The Importance of Sleep

By Vi Lam

March is National Sleep Awareness Month. In addition, March is also when Daylight Savings causes us to lose an hour of sleep.

It is known that diet and exercise are linked to good health, but sleep is just as important to health. With our busy lifestyles, health problems, and any issues that cause us to not get enough sleep, we are causing harm to our body without knowing it.

When we lose sleep, the risk of many diseases and disorders, such as heart disease, stroke, obesity, and dementia increase. For older adults who don't get enough sleep because they are in pain or have medications that keep them awake, they will be more likely to be irritable, forgetful, depressed, and have a higher risk of falling.

If you are having trouble falling asleep or staying asleep, reach out to your doctor for help. You can also try to:

- Follow a regular sleep schedule.
- Avoid napping in the late afternoon or evening.
- Limit technology usage before bedtime.
- Try reading a book or listening to soothing music.
- Ensure that the room temperature is not too cold or hot.
- Avoid caffeine or eating a heavy meal close to bedtime.

The Centers for Disease Control has recommendations for how many hours of sleep you would need based on your age and information on the benefits of sleep. Older adults over 60, need at least 7 hours a day, the same as an adult who is 18-60 years old.

You don't have to wait until March to learn more about sleep. Start by visiting The National Sleep Foundation for information about the importance of sleep: https://www.cdc.gov/sleep/about/index.html.

Be Your Own Advocate

By Joanna Kent and Leticia Sabadin

"Advocate" is defined as a person who publicly supports or recommends a particular cause or policy.

You or someone close to you with a disability can have difficulties navigating the complex health system, resources, and programs that are out there. It can cause you to be overcome with many emotions. Some who are lucky, might hear about resources from their doctor, case/social worker, or from friends and family.

For those who aren't as lucky, they struggle to find helpful resources.

Everyone has a chance to be an advocate for oneself or others. You might not have the time to attend all your local legislators' events, but you can find ones that matter to you the most to advocate for it. Being a consumer under In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS), you can be an advocate for yourself and others in the program by participating in the IHSS Advisory Board (AB) meeting.

Joanna, an AB member, shared how her journey as an advocate for her family member was scary, pressuring, and worrisome. She made mistakes, but she was able to learn from them. As she tried to navigate and find resources, her family members had to make do with what help they currently had until she was able to figure it out.

Joanna is now using her experience to advocate by being a part of the IHSS AB. You can be a part of the change to help ensure that others you know, respect, love, or care for can be heard, even if they can't be there.

Join the IHSS AB meeting in-person or via Zoom, on the 3rd Tuesday of each month from 12:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m.

For more information visit pascc.org or call (408) 350-3286.

Care Coaching Program for Consumers

By Angelina Soria

In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) consumers have the important task of finding their own Independent Provider (IP). This involves a range of responsibilities, such as interviewing, hiring, training, supervising, and, if needed, letting go of their IP. This process can be particularly challenging for consumers due to physical limitations, mental health issues, or other specific circumstances.

Care Coaching is a program managed by Public Authority Services to help consumers with the process of hiring a provider. Consumers who need additional support can be referred to the Care Coaching program to manage tasks like contacting potential IPs, conducting interviews, completing IHSS paperwork, and resolving any conflicts that may arise.

Eligible consumers will have an assigned Care Coordinator (CC) who will conduct an in-home visit. During these visits, the CC will review the IHSS process and explain how the Care Coaching program can help. If the consumer is open to it, the CC will also assist in the hiring process by evaluating potential IPs from a registry of providers and arranging interviews with those who seem to be the best fit for the consumer's needs. The CC will be present during these interviews to facilitate the discussion and help with the necessary paperwork once the consumer makes their choice.

Throughout this process, the CC will also assess the consumer's ability to manage the hiring process independently, as fostering independence is a key goal of the program. If the Registry Manager and CC assess that the consumer will be able to conduct the hiring process on their own, they will transition the consumer to the Regular Registry for future provider requests.

Call your social worker at IHSS and ask for a Referral to the Care Coaching program.

National Cancer Prevention Month

By Vi Lam

The National Cancer Institute estimated that in the United States, there would be 2,001,140 newly diagnosed cancer cases, and 611,720 people will die from cancer in 2024. When we do not recognize the signs and symptoms of cancer, we may not get it diagnosed in the early stages. When we are diagnosed, the outcome might not be favorable. This February is National Cancer Prevention Month where we can spend some time and learn about prevention, early diagnosis, treatments, and support that is offered for cancer.

To start, find out if you're at a higher risk of developing cancer. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) lists alcohol, family health history, human papillomavirus (HPV), obesity, and tobacco as risk factors. To learn about these risk factors, go to https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/risk-factors/index.html.

Ask your doctor for cancer screening tests, vaccinations for HPV, hepatitis B, and make healthy choices.

Once you know the risk factors, focus on what you can do to help prevent cancer. Ask your doctor for cancer screening tests, vaccinations for HPV, hepatitis B, and make healthy choices. Healthy choices can be avoiding tobacco, limiting alcohol intake, or protecting yourself from ultraviolet rays. There are many resources out there to help you learn or support you and your loved one through a cancer diagnosis.

Cancer CAREpoint (CCP) is a non-profit organization that offers many programs that provide dedicated support to cancer patients, survivors, family members, and caregivers in the Bay Area. They have personalized, one-on-one counseling, assistance, resources, and education. Services includes:

- Counseling
- Exercise & Movement
- Mind-body Skills
- Nutrition Services
- Support Groups
- Urvivorship
- Wig and Head Covering Services

Visit CCP's website to learn more at https://www.cancercarepoint.org or connect with them at their community helpline at (408) 402–6611.
